An Embattled Measure

Use Tax Bill Heads For Joint Meetings

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The embattled use tax bill today appeared headed for a House-Senate conference to work out a compromise on exemption sections.

The bill was designed to extend the state's two per cent tax on retail sales inside the state to articles bought by Missourians outside the state.

The bill passed the Senate 27-5 yesterday after adoption of changes that would make broad exemptions.

House leaders took a look at the exemptions today and said they made the bill practically useless. Thereupon the House asked the Senate to back down on its changes or grant a House-Senate conference.

Meanwhile, the House also asked the Senate for the second time to grant a conference on the major appropriation bills. The Senate had rejected the first request last Thursday but Senate leaders indicated a conference would be granted this time.

House leaders said the appropriations compromise would be programmed as if the use tax bill had been passed in such a shape as to produce an estimated $8,000,000 a year. That would go a long way toward restoring the sharp senate cuts in the money bills.

Other revenue bills appeared to be emerging from the mire, too.

The House Ways and Means Committee scheduled a hearing for later today on a Senate-passed bill to increase the two per cent sales tax to 2½ per cent.

The Senate Roads and Highways

Committee scheduled for tomorrow afternoon consideration of a House-passed gas tax increase of two cents a gallon. The House Roads and Highways Committee planned tomorrow night to consider the Senate-passed gas tax bill, a one-cent boost.

House leaders said today they figure the Senate version of the use tax could produce no more than $1,500,000 a year. Sen. George A. Spencer (D) of Columbia figured it might amount to $12,000,000, counting an increase in sales tax collections in border areas.

Sen. Kelso Journey (D) of Clinton, who opposed many of the exemptions, said the Senate action represented a victory for big business.

This bill closes the loopholes for the little fellows," he said, "but the big fellows got away."

As an inducement to new and expanding industry, machinery and equipment bought outside the state by such firms would be exempt. Language of the bill is designed to exempt big outfits like the TWA overhaul base near Kansas City, McDonnell Aircraft at St. Louis, the new Chrysler Corp. plant in St. Louis County, Rocketdyne at Neosho, railroads and many others.

Films, records and pictures used by radio and TV stations would be exempt. So would the newspaper used by newspapers. If you don't pay sales tax on an item under the present 2 per cent retail tax, you wouldn't pay it on similar items bought outside the state for use in Missouri.

Man Drowns, Is Carried Four Blocks

Damage to Property Is Said 'Terrific'; No Estimate Made

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—A torrent of water up to 10 feet deep surged through St. Joseph's north side late Monday night after a cloudburst north of the city. One man drowned.

Despite widespread damage, there were no reports of missing persons.

The body of William M. Thomas was found four blocks from where the water swept him from his car.

Property damage was tremendous, but no one would estimate the monetary loss immediately.

Merrill Chilcote, managing editor of the St. Joseph News-Press, who made a tour of the area, said "It's terrific. It's unbelievable how much damage could be inflicted in such a short time. It's a miracle no one else got it."

The downpour on the north slopes of St. Joseph, a city of 79,000 population in northwestern Missouri, was measured at four inches — in one hour.

It was one of a series of thunderstorms which produced at least two tornadoes across the Missouri River in northeastern Kansas. Farm buildings were smashed by twisters near Hiawatha, Everest and Denton, Kan., about 25 miles west of St. Joseph. No one was injured.

Flooding creeks blocked U.S. 36 near Highland and Fanning in the same Kansas area.

The St. Joseph flood followed the Great Western Railroad tracks through an older section of the city. The area is a combination business and residential district.

Police estimated the flood zone was two or three blocks wide and about four miles long. There was speculation that clogged sewers contributed to the flood. The water receded rapidly.

St. Joseph Avenue, the main street in the district, roughly parallels the railroad.

Parked automobiles were tumbled along the avenue by the rushing water.

The flood smashed the windows of the big Green Hills supermarket just as eight clerks were closing the store. Trapped inside, they fled to the roof.

Mrs. Glenn Case, wife of one of the clerks, arrived in a car to pick up her husband just as the water hit. She and their three small children were trapped in the car.

Alfred Dougal, one of the clerks, reached the car and passed the woman and children up to the other men on the roof.

Railroad Bill Awaits Action By President

It Would Increase Both Retirement, Jobless Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower acts today on a bill with both political and economic implications — a bill to boost both retirement and jobless benefits for railroad workers.

The cost would be met from added taxes on rail workers and employers.

Railroads have been urging a veto, contending the costs would be excessive. Rail unions, seeking approval of the bill, contend that Congress would override any veto of the measure.

Eisenhower has until midnight tonight either to sign or to veto the bill. Otherwise it would become law without his signature.

Neither the Senate nor the House took a roll call vote in passing the measure, so there was no clear indication whether Congress would be inclined to support or override a veto. Congress has not yet overridden an Eisenhower veto in his six years in office.

As passed by Congress, the bill provides for a 10 per cent increase in railroad worker retirement benefits on June 1 and a 20 per cent boost in rail unemployment benefits.

The jobless payments, previously limited to a maximum of 26 weeks, are extended to as much as 52 weeks for longtime employees, and this extension is made retroactive to last year. Under this provision, officials said, some once-idled rail employees could collect back payments of more than $600 each.

The rail unions had sought the retroactivity feature after a similar measure, moving through Congress last year, was blocked in an adjournment jam. The unions sought the benefits to which the workers would have been entitled had the bill been passed then.

Railroad workers are not covered under the social security system. Instead they have their own program of pensions, aid to survivors, and jobless and sickness benefits. The benefits are higher than under social security but cost both workers and employers more.

The railroads have contended that the increases would cost the industry, already being given special government financial aid, an extra 120 million dollars per year immediately. Eventually, under a gradually increased special tax, an additional 250 million dollars per year would be required, they say.

New Ordinance Read

Third, Ohio, Other Traffic Problems in Council Action

On the recommendation of the Citizens Traffic Advisory Committee, the City Council Monday night took action on the traffic problem at Third and Ohio, loading zones and left turn off Ohio.

The recommendations grew out of a citizens committee meeting Tuesday. Cline Cain, chairman of the committee, in a letter to the mayor and council, made the following recommendations:

"That the city establish the traffic light at Broadway and Limit by ordinance to include a left hand turn per the proposal and timing of the engineers of the State Highway Department.

"That the no turn regulation at Third and Ohio, which has been on trial basis, be enacted by ordinance as a permanent policy.

"That the loading zone now located on Kentucky be moved to the 200 block on West Main, and that the loading zone now located on the north side of the 100 block west on Second be changed to the south side of that block.

"That a center line be painted on Third Street west in the vicinity of the entrance of Liberty Park, and that a two block speed limit of 20 miles per hour be established in that area.

McElroy To Stay On As Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neil H. McElroy said today he will stay on indefinitely as secretary of defense.

McElroy made the announcement to newsmen at the White House with his new deputy, Thomas S. Gates Jr., standing at his side.

They had just conferred with President Eisenhower.

"I have suspended my plans for departure," McElroy said. "I don't know when I will be leaving, if at all."

Asked whether that means he intends to stay in the Cabinet indefinitely, McElroy replied that was the best way to put it.

Eisenhower Monday picked Gates, who is retiring as secretary of the Navy at the end of the month, to succeed the late Donald A. Quarles as deputy secretary of defense.

There had been speculation that Eisenhower had persuaded Gates to stay on at the Pentagon by telling him he is in line to take over behind McElroy. He had been planning to step out June 1 as secretary of the Navy.

Prior to Quarles' death McElroy had said several times that he wanted to leave his Cabinet post by the end of the year to return to private business.

Even in his statement today the defense chief did not rule out the possibility of his resigning before the end of Eisenhower's tenure in office.

Tribute Paid To City Clerk

Ida Bahner Gets Temporary Appointment From Council

The City Council Monday night recognized its late city clerk, Howard M. Brown, who died Friday morning, by passing a resolution which was concurred in unanimously by the mayor and Council.

The resolution, instead of being read by the clerk as is the custom, was read by Mayor Abe Silverman the three times necessary for official passage.

The resolution in part stated:

"The deceased so discharged his duties as clerk of the City of Sedalia that he established a record noted for courtesy and efficiency; exemplified the best attributes of a faithful public servant, was well and favorably known by the citizens of this community and was frequently mentioned as a trusted and dependable civic leader who conducted himself as a gentleman on all occasions.

"His passing called from the City of Sedalia one of its most valuable employees and removed from the community a citizen whose life was distinguished by kindly deeds and the exemplification of good will among men."

"The City Council of Sedalia does express its great regret for the loss of so valuable an employee, and of a citizen so highly respected. We do hereby extend our sympathy to the widow and children of the deceased in their bereavement."

The resolution was signed by the mayor, who was instructed to see that certified copy be delivered to the surviving members of the family.

Following the passage, Mayor Silverman then announced it was necessary that an acting city clerk be named. He presented the name of Miss Ida Mae Bahner, who was secretary to Clerk Brown, and the Council approved the temporary appointment.

During the meeting, Judge Thomas T. Keating read the ordinances and other materials to be brought up before the Council, while Miss Bahner took the notes of the meeting.

Called to the attention of the Council was the absence of Councilman R. N. Snively, whose mother, Mrs. George Snively, died Sunday morning.

Councilman Clyde Swafford reported on a meeting of the parking lot committee. Swafford reported the committee is awaiting a report from the Engineer on the Third and Lamine parking lot, where the St. Francis Hotel once stood.

He said that it has been requested by businessmen in the area to make it a "double-decker" by clearing the basement and laying a floor at the street level.

Swafford called attention to a letter from William T. Solon requesting that no billboards be placed along the west side of the parking lot and to use them along the alley on the south side. Swafford reported Solon was under the impression no billboards were to be erected. The matter has been taken under advisement by the committee.

City Council O.K. Committee Appointments

Combine Sanitation License Inspector and Milk Inspector

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

The first of committee appointments to various city committees were made by the Council at its regular meeting Monday night. Mayor Abe Silverman, under new business, brought forth the names of those he desired to have confirmed.

Throughout the lists no objection was offered by any of the Council and all names were adopted unanimously.

The Council made a switch in duties when they voted to combine the Milk Inspectors job with that of the Sanitary and License Inspection Officers. However, it was not accomplished without opposition which came from Councilman Pat Clark.

Mayor Silverman began when he stated he had the resignation of Dr. M. E. Gouge as milk inspector effective as of June 1. He explained that several applications had been received for the position, all good men, but the opinion was it would be best to combine the offices, giving the sanitary officer a broader scope on control of the milk. As it is now, the milk inspector has control over the dairy and on through to the grocery, but that ends his jurisdiction.

Under the combination, the sanitary officer would have this authority of the milk inspector, but also the continued control of the milk on through the grocery and to the consumer. This alone would give a far better control over milk in Sedalia, Silverman said.

Councilman Clark asked, "What is the idea of eliminating one man? Are you going to put another man on to handle other duties of the sanitary officer and are you going to give the sanitary officer a raise for taking on these extra duties?"

Mayor Silverman explained no other man was to be hired. "There will be a redistribution of some of his work to other departments as it should be anyway. Yes, he will get a small raise," Silverman said.

Clark said: "He has his hands full as it is now, and I can't see it."

Mayor Silverman replied: "Mr. Morris is confident he can handle the job. He will have to be schooled and Dr. Gouge has offered his assistance up to June 1, as have Dr. Ralph M. Carrel, who tests our milk samples, and also Walter Meyer, who is the dairy inspector for Tullis-Hall and a well qualified man. That is the reason we must make the change now and

Dulles Reported Continuing To Grow Weaker

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was reported today continuing to grow weaker in his fight against cancer and pneumonia.

The State Department said he was being given pain killers and was generally comfortable.

The medical bulletin was the third in two weeks to report a weakening of Dulles' condition.

Dulles was reported to be conscious but sleeping much of the time because of the pain-killing drugs which are being administered.

Lincoln White, State Department press officer, denied at a news conference reports that Dulles was in a coma.

Dulles' friends expect he may lose his fight for life within a matter of days. Doctors attending him regard it as impossible to forecast how long he may last now that his cancer is in an advanced stage.

Members of his family have gathered in Washington and are frequent visitors at his bedside.

The former secretary of state took a turn for the worse Friday after an attack of pneumonia.

Spring Blooms Make Decision Tough

Sedalia's 'Yard of the Month' Winners for May Are Chosen

Spring flowers and shrubs, along with the green carpets of new grass, made it hard for the judges to decide the winners in the May "Yard of the Month" contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

One of the prettiest homes was the first place winner in the northeast section of town, which is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Stuart, 1301 Cedar Drive. The yard of this new brick home is very beautiful with planter boxes filled with colorful plants, foundation planting, a filled urn, bright tulip beds at the corner of each side of the yard and the freshly mowed grass.

The first place winner in the southwest division, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chaney, 1316 New England Drive, always catches the eye of the passerby and the judges. This home is of red brick and has an excellent foundation planting. The lawn is always nicely kept, there are trees and at the back is a border of flowers, different kinds that seem to be planted for continual bloom.

The home of Mrs. and Mrs. George Trader, 1515 West Third, of yellow brick, is another home that always looks attractive, with nice plantings around the foundation and red geraniums to give the color. There is a border of flowers at the side. This is the first place winner in the northwest division.

The home winner of first place in the southeast division was that of Alice L. Tucker, 918 Arlington. It is a white house with a lovely yard where color was rampant, with tulips, iris, verbenas, and blooming shrubs. There were also effective evergreen plantings.

Among the second place winners is the yard of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Potter, 1301 North Heard, in the northeast section. The Potters' white and green bungalow sits in a spacious yard enclosed by a fence. It has nice evergreen plantings and, although at the time the judges looked at it the tulips were almost gone and the lilies and other flowers, including the wisteria tree, were not yet in bloom, it was still very picturesque.

No matter what time of year people pass the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Blue, 1610 West Fourth, they find they want to look a bit at it. In the winter during Christmas it has very unusual decorations, and throughout the spring, summer and fall there is always bloom. The house is yellow brick and in front are planters filled with flowers. At the front is a the Council took it under advisement and the mayor appointed a citizens committee to make a study of city wages and increases. He said the firemen asked a $30 a month increase but at the time were informed the city did not have the funds available.

Garrison said the raise would cost the city an increase in the fire department budget of $9,360 a year for the 26 men. He then cited the need for a new motor for the 1947 Seagrave fire truck at a cost of $1,800; 26 safety helmets at a total cost of $468; four new tires for the 1954 Seagrave truck costing $400; a radio for the ladder truck at $350 with Civil Defense matching funds of $350; a fire hose replacement at about $960; firemen's uniform equipment at about $400; two salvage covers at $50 each; and new warning red light signals at $96 each, three to be bought at a total of $288.

Garrison stated that it was in connection with the anticipated budget that he was giving these figures at this time, meaning the budget will probably have to be $14,178 more than a year ago, when it was $92,200, or a new total of $110,378.

No action was taken by the Council on the request for a raise.

Councilman Earl Paxton, chairman of the police, gas and lights committee, referred to a petition for a new lighting system on 16th Street, and said this was being referred to Clinton Black of the Missouri Public Service Co., for study.

He also told the Council the police department had ordered the two three-wheel Cushman motor vehicles to be used in connection with the traffic department.

Councilman Swafford reported the traffic department would pay the difference in the trade-in for the scooters and the old tri-wheel motorcycle.

The following ordinances were read for the third time and passed by the Council: Rezoning of Lots 15 through 19, Block 7, Broadway Heights Addition from R-1 to C-3; accepting the improvements, work and labor done and materials furnished for curb and guttering on West Tenth from Sneed to Park, accepting improvements, work and labor done and materials furnished for curb and guttering on 15th street from Arlington to Babcock. Four ordinances for the construction of sewers were read: Sewer lateral No. 2 in District 139; Sewer Lateral No. 1, District 146; Sewer Lateral No. 1, District No. 142; and Sewer Lateral No. 6, in District No. 138.

An ordinance accepting Sewer Lateral No. 5 in District No. 138.

Approval was given for the acting city clerk to destroy two public parking system revenue interest coupons of $26.25 each, or $52.50; 19 public sewer interest coupons at $10, each or $190; four Army interest coupons at $10, or $40; and two Hospital No. 2 interest coupons at $10, or $20; a total of $302.50.

A license to sell liquor by the drink at the Jockey Club was approved.

Five bids for corrugated pipe for the street and alley department were read: Gold Lumber Co., $3,024; Johns Lumber Co., $2,752.80; Home Lumber Co., $3,024, less 5 per cent if paid in a stipulated time; Looney-Bloss Lumber Co., $3,024, less 2 per cent discount if paid in a stipulated time; Sedalia Lumber Co., $3,266.

The committee took a five-minute recess and returned recommending the bid of the Johns Lumber Co. be accepted.

Bids on Sewer Lateral No. 2 in District No. 139 were called. One bid, that of the J. W. Atkinson Construction Co., was opened and it was $4,572.50, while the engineer's estimate was $4,449.90.

The Council referred the bid to the city engineer to be negotiated with the contractor to see if it could not be brought to the estimate, inasmuch as there was but one bid.

An ordinance for the construction of Lateral No. 2 in Sewer District No. 128 was read for the first time.

Councilman Paul Hausam then requested the Council to give Poundmaster Weathers the authority to employ a helper for three months at $100 a month, explaining he needed the help in collecting the dog tax at this time.

Councilman Garrison, remarked "Old Gus out ran the last one, but I'll go along with it."

The request was approved. Harry Goldberg, of the Chamber of Commerce tourist committee, had several requests, one to erect a sign at Broadway and Ingram calling attention to the covered bridge at Flat Creek, one of the few left in the country, permission to erect a "Welcome to Sedalia" sign on the Municipal Airport property along Highway 50, and signs calling attention to the shopping district on Missouri Avenue at Third and Missouri, Broadway and Ohio, and Main and Missouri.

Referring to the welcome sign at the airport, Councilman Clark remarked, "And maybe get it done out of town like the other."

A check on welcome signs around the city by The Democrat-Capital shows that a sign at the Industrial Park in west Sedalia, with an estimated value of $500, was donated by the Hargrove Advertising Co., St. Joseph, a member of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce, with a promise to maintain and repaint the sign every year at no cost, and four welcome signs erected about seven years ago by the Sedalia Garden Clubs were painted by Councilman Clark.

Goldberg then requested permission for bus service in Sedalia during State Fair Week, with loading zones at Third and Ohio and Broadway and Ohio. He explained he would take out necessary insurance for the period on the buses. It was approved under the condition the routes would be worked out with the city engineer.

Councilman Clark stated he felt there should be signs at Broadway and Ohio calling attention to the directions to the two hospitals in Sedalia.

Councilman Hausam called attention to his remarks two weeks ago about police cars operating with red lights and not sounding their sirens. He presented a prepared statement on the matter for the meeting, which he read:

"Many people had approached me on the subject, so at the last Council meeting I brought up the subject of the patrol cars running at a high rate of speed with the red lights on but little or no siren."

"Chief Hamlin explained to me the reason was not neglect of duty, rather it was performance of duty. He explained the reason that the siren was not used was to permit them to slip up on the culprits. In other words, his department is trying to apprehend criminals, not just scaring them off, and to do this he finds it necessary to run the patrol cars with little or no siren and to take chances with his men and city equipment."

"I think Chief Hamlin is right in his idea and I commend him for going ahead in spite of some controversy on the subject."

appoint someone so Dr. Gouge can work with him until June 1."

Councilman Paul Hausam, the chairman of the sanitation committee, remarked he had investigated the matter and found from persons of high qualifications that any layman could handle the milk inspector's duties with some schooling. He also pointed out it would save the city somewhere in the neighborhood of $1,800 a year.

Councilman Swafford pointed out the new combination of jobs would give Morris a raise of about $30 a month plus the milk inspector's gasoline allowance of $40 a month, or a total of $120, compared to the $235 a month salary and $40 gasoline allowance under the present setup. He said it would be a saving of a little more than $155 each month.

Under the combination, Morris' salary for the three jobs, sanitary officer, license inspector and milk inspector, would be $400. To this would be added gasoline allowances of $30 for sanitary officer, $30 for cigarette and license inspector, and $40 for milk inspector, or a total of $100 for car expenses each month.

Mayor Silverman explained that an investigation had been made, the Sanitation Committee had discussed the proposal and decided to ask for the combination of jobs. Councilman Earl Paxton moved the combination be made and seconded by Councilman Woodrow Garrison.

On a roll call vote, Councilmen Paxton, Paul Hausam, Woodrow Garrison, Harold Vogel, Clyde Swafford and Jack Cunningham voted yes, and Clark no. Councilman R. N. Snively was absent from the meeting because of the death of his mother.

Councilman Garrison then moved the Mayor write a letter to Dr. Gouge expressing the City's appreciation for his services rendered the city, and the outstanding and splendid job he had done. It was unanimously voted to do so. The following appointments were made on committees:

gay little patch of violas, and running back the entire side of the house is a border of flowering shrubs, iris of many shades and other flowers. This was the second place winner in the northwest division.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Tyron, 1622 West Tenth, was second place winner in the southwest division. The house is a combination of brick and gray wood, and sits at an angle. What attracts attention to this house particularly are the flower boxes at the many windows across the front. The boxes are white with vivid red geraniums. The foundation planting is of evergreen and, in contrast, yellow shrubs.

In the southeast division, a particularly inviting looking house is that of Mr. and Mrs. James McCullough, 1612 East Ninth, which won second place in this section. The white frame house has two flower boxes in front with scalloped edges which are very different and effective. These boxes were filled with growing plants. The foundation planting is of evergreens, and many flowers are growing in the large yard at the side.

The little white house of Mrs. Viretta Withers, 331 North Engineer, says plainly that the person living there loves flowers, for there are all kinds of flowers from the flowering shrubs in the yard to the house plants recently brought out-of-doors. One of the very striking things is the many shades in the iris border. There are flowers in front of the house, at the sides of the house and beautiful trees in the yard. This place won third in the northeast division.

Another homey place is that of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bergmann, 714 East 18th, with nice trees, shrubs and flowers of all kinds, many of the old favorites like buttercups, poppies, lilies of the valley and sweet rocket in bloom. The yard is well kept and the whole place presents a pleasing atmosphere. This is the third place winner in the southeast division.

The third place winner in the northwest division is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Jones, 1401 West Fourth. It has evergreen planting in front and back which may be seen from the street has a charming little rock garden with gay flowers growing between the rocks. There is an arbor covered with vines. The Joneses also have the lot back of them and this is a mass of color with blooming iris.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Siegel Woodward, 1601 West Tenth, is a white house with green shutters, and an exceptionally nice lawn that always looks as if it has just been cut. The foundation planting is simply large ferns growing all around the front of the house, and the one touch of color is the old fashioned bleeding heart at the corner filled with sprays of pink hearts.

Signs designating the winners for the month of May have been placed in the yards.

Winners do not know they are being considered for an award unless they happen to see the judges looking. The names of attractive yards are handed in by the committee surveying the town for a list to give to the judges and the point system is used in the final judging.

Problem of Turning Loose Hits at Retirement Time

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—The problem of letting go is very hard.

It is hardest, of course, on the individual who reaches a corporate retirement age and still wants to keep on working, usually for the same corporation.

The main loyalty of his life outside his family has been tied to his job. He often feels he has been able to adjust better to the changing demands of his job than to those at home. Sometimes, as he is needed less at home when the children are on their own, he feels the need to be bigger at his office.

Then, usually at 65, the office doesn't need him any more.

What is done to cushion a faithful employee against the stunning fact that he is no longer a corporate necessity?

Few corporations today do more than give him a corporate farewell. The trend, however, is in the other way.

One example is a preretirement program established five years ago by Mutual of New York, one of America's largest insurance companies. They set up a course among their employees on how to stop work, how to let go.

The idea was put into effect by Vice President George Wilgus, personnel executive. He felt that although a survey showed two thirds of major U.S. companies do something to help employees on the edge of retirement, most of them don't cushion the blow enough.

His solution?

A year before retirement an employee is taught how to retire. He can take a day a week off from his job. He can attend on company time six to seven monthly classes on how to face up to the problems of retirement.

The classes include discussion on where to live, how to handle financial responsibilities, health problems, the development of hobbies, the prospect of taking other jobs.

"These people can and want to be useful to themselves and to society," said Wilgus. "All they need is a little steering before they leave their jobs."

"The human cry now is: it is terrible to retire people. We try to show them what they can do to be happy."

What are the results?

"The main benefit is that they think in advance on a systematic basis about the problems of retirement," said Wilgus.

Wilgus has to face, of course, the fact that growing numbers of healthy elders aren't willing to quit voluntarily at 65.

Earlier this month Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell ad-

Look, Ma -- No Head

Only a few days off is the first of the year's big holiday weekends, Memorial Day. With more cars on the roads than ever, we can expect plenty of trouble unless we exercise extreme care.

We don't have the National Safety Council's traffic fatality estimates yet, but we know they won't be small, even though the holiday itself falls on a Saturday.

As we prepare for our spring excursions on the highways, we might take note of the safety bulletin put out by the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

It makes the point that most motorists have the needed intelligence to drive properly and safely, but generally they don't use more than half that capability when they're behind the wheel.

The half of their mind not attending to driving is taken up with such things as talking, listening to the radio, day-dreaming, gazing at people and the like along the way, thinking about family, home, office and so on.

Put a woman in the driver's seat and the situation is the same. The only difference is in what she's thinking about or attending to.

There are, of course, many, many reasons for automobile accidents. But far from the least of them is the blunt fact, never harped on enough, that drivers for the most part just don't pay strict attention to the business of driving.

In all too many cases, the car is seen, consciously or otherwise, as a kind of floating extension of your living room, your office, your back yard.

Watch the driver in front of you for five minutes. Count the times he turns his head and looks away from the road, and the times he takes his hands off the wheel to gesture, relax as if he were at home on a couch, etc.

You'll be amazed at how incidental the actual driving operation seems to many on the roads. The danger is compounded when we realize how many who stare straight ahead and keep their hands on the wheel still are giving just half their minds to the driving job.

In the end, only one thing can be said to them: The death that can come in one awful second of distraction is not incidental.

Now Maybe Geneva Talks Will Get Serious

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now — maybe — the foreign ministers at Geneva will cut out the propaganda rignarole and get down to cases. Reports from there say they may go into secret session. It's about the only way they will get anything done.

So far, from the standpoint of serious negotiations, this meeting of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union has been a sorry spectacle. Each side has been making proposals it knew beforehand the other would not accept. And neither did.

The whole intention of each side up till now seems to have been to get the maximum publicity — meaning propaganda — for its proposals before the other had a chance to say no. They let it be known what they'd say before they ever sat down at the conference table to say it.

It's a tossup on who's ahead on propaganda. If there's any edge, the Soviets have it.

The West can crow that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko lost on his demand that the foreign ministers of East Germany, West Germany, Poland and Czechoslovakia be allowed to take a full part in the conference. The West said no, and made it stick.

But the Soviets can laugh at this. They accomplished what was no doubt their only purpose in making the demand they knew the West would reject:

To gain a little public opinion yardage for Moscow among the peoples of the two Germanys, Poland and Czechoslovakia by representing the Soviet Union as their champion and the West as the one who stifled them and refused to grant them equal status.

The whole rickety nature of this conference — at least so far — was exposed weeks ago when the American, British, French and West German foreign ministers, meeting in Paris, agreed on a "package plan" to offer the Soviets.

The Soviets had demanded basically two things: that the Western Big Three get their troops out of West Berlin and that they sign a peace treaty with Communist East Germany, a Soviet satellite, thus giving it international recognition and through that tightening the Soviet grip on all the satellites.

This the West — on both counts — had already said it wouldn't do. Instead the West came up with the package plan which it knew the Soviets would not buy.

This called for various steps and stages that required the unification of the two Germanys, which the Soviets didn't want, plus elections, formation of a single German government, and, only after all that was done, Allied withdrawal from Berlin.

The Western ministers were so sure the Soviets wouldn't agree that they let the news leak out about their concern over what they might be able to propose once the Soviets had turned down the package plan.

The point was, while the Allies could agree on a plan they knew there was no chance of the Soviets accepting, what kind of plan, which the Soviets might accept, could they agree on? There was no sign after the Paris meeting that the Western allies could agree on the "fallback" plan.

And there was still no sign of agreement among them Monday. There was a row among the four Western powers — before Monday's session with Gromyko began — on when and how to separate Berlin from the package plan.

West Germany and France were reported to want a tough negotiating attitude toward Gromyko while the United States and Britain were said to be willing to start talking about settling the Berlin dispute itself. So at last the two sides met again Monday.

The completely expected happened: For the West Secretary of State Christian A. Herter bluntly rejected the Soviet demands; Gromyko grimly turned down the Western package. Now — maybe and if they're ever going to do it — the two sides will begin some serious talking and stop the shadow-boxing.

To statesmen all this maneuvering may look like the way to carry on high diplomacy. To many people of the world it may look like kid stuff.

Moulder Author of TV Educational Aid Bill

By ROBERT E. HENNESSEE
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Educational television is still floundering in the cellar after seven years and only some quick federal help may be able to save the well-intentioned program from the wolves.

Congressman Morgan M. Moulder (D of Missouri's 11th District, who is author of a bill to offer federal matching funds to aid educational TV, believes Congress will act this session.

The Federal Communications Commission set aside 258 TV channels for educational use in 1952. But to date, only 42 stations have been put into operation.

Commercial TV interests are pressing the government for some of these highly valuable channels. Also, the Armed Services are attempting to get some of them, although the services are not using all the channels they now have.

Congressman Moulder told the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee considering his bill that "I certainly would not advocate that the federal government get into educational broadcasting in any way" but that the government should offer financial aid to states and local communities. He said:

"The educational opportunities which we can offer through the increased use of educational television are tremendous."

Moulder said the principle of matching funds, as against direct grants, is the proper way to stimulate the earliest possible widespread use of this valuable medium.

The Senate already has passed an educational TV aid bill, but it calls for direct grants. It is generally felt that the final version to come out of Congress will call for matching funds.

Wives Hard to Understand? Take a Look at Husbands

Men claim it's impossible to understand a woman. But how can a woman understand a man who —

Has "economy" for his theme song one week and goes out and buys a new car or boat the next?

Compliments you on how nice you look in the "new" dress he has seen you wear a dozen times?

Throws a fit when you talk of getting your hair style changed, and then doesn't notice when you do?

Thinks his son is scatterbrained for doing the same things he did at the same age?

Asks "What did you do with my such-and-such?" whenever he misplaces one of his possessions?

Always remembers that he has a hard day tomorrow when he is playing bridge with another couple, but never remembers the tough day ahead of him when he's playing poker with the boys?

Looks with a skeptical eye on anything baked in a casserole?

Has the will power to diet at mealtime but figures there are no calories in bedtime snacks?

Wants his wife as first assistant, tool fetcher and admiring audience before he will undertake to drive a nail?

Thinks the only thing women do when they get together is gossip?

Makes like a chef if he can stir up a barbecue sauce?

Thinks the reason women spend so much time shopping is because they enjoy it?

Enjoys pretending to be a hen-pecked husband?

Thinks Hollywood's young crop of male actors can't compare with the old-timers like Gary Cooper and Spencer Tracy, but thinks their feminine contemporaries should have retired years ago?

Recreation Is Dividend To Public For Investment

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — Two of the government's multi-million public works agencies have just issued vacation brochures in a kind of glorified competition to provide the taxpayers with more free recreation facilities. They are Army Corps of Engineers and Bureau of Reclamation in Department of Interior.

Both of them are in the primary business of building dams. The dams make lakes. The lakes provide sporting and vacation grounds. And that's where the fun comes in.

There are also two other government agencies in this business of providing adult and family-type playgrounds. They are National Park Service which also runs the National Monuments under Department of Interior and the Forest Service in Department of Agriculture.

But the Army's report says 94 million admissions were recorded at the 130 Corps of Engineers recreation areas last year. National Forests drew only 61 million National Parks and Monuments drew 56 million.

The Bureau of Reclamation says there were just under 10 million admissions at its 140 recreation areas last year. So it's very definitely low man on this totem pole. And the Army eagle screams at the top.

When Corps of Engineers got into this dam building business it was primarily interested in flood control and harbor development. The old War Department was given control over all navigable streams. That's how it began.

The next step was that Corps of Engineers got interested in power development and it is flood control dams.

Public power development was originally a baby of Bureau of Reclamation, founded in 1902. B. R. is still limited to the 17 western states, however, and the Corps of Engineers is building dams all over the country.

But utilizing C. of E. dams for multipurpose projects made sense. So it was only natural that the army began to build electric generators under its dams.

This power is now sold through the office of Interior's Assistant Secretary for Water and Power, Fred G. Aandahl. Until the Eisenhower administration came to town there was a Division of Power in Interior which did this marketing. That division was abolished in the GOP desire to minimize the role of public power.

But all the dams are still there, with big reservoirs behind them. Wherever there is a lake, somebody wants to sail a boat on it or swim in it, camp beside it, catch fish out of it, shoot ducks rising from it, watch a sun rise or set over it. So the recreation business was born.

It should be made clear that all this is according to law. Recreation facilities are provided for in plans on all projects. Money is appropriated by Congress to build them. The line is that this recreational use is a dividend which the taxpayers receive on their investment.

Nobody would want to take away recreational byproducts of multipurpose natural resource development. But when two big government agencies issue literature bragging about how good the fishing is at their artificial lakes, the conscientious taxpayer may be pardoned if he asks whether this is efficient.

Anyway with both outfits now putting out lures for tourists in the coming season, it looks as though total admissions at all government recreation areas will be way in excess of last year's 223 million total.

The figure is way over the 176 million population because many tourists visited two or more recreation areas. But if every tourist spent the estimated average of $6 a day, it's a 1.3-billion-dollar-business that the government is fostering.

The Mature Parent

Mother, You Can't Dispense Love Like Slot Machine

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence

"My husband is always accusing me of favoring our little boy over his sister," writes Mrs. O. "I don't. The boy is easier to get along with, but I lean over backwards to show no partiality. How can I make my husband stop accusing me of it?"

There's nothing evil in liking one person more than another, Mrs. O. We parents can't order ourselves to eject equal amounts of affection to children as though we were slot machines delivering chewing gum.

Why does the idea that you prefer your little boy so alarm you that you can't stand your husband's putting it into words?

If we do prefer our son, let's say to ourselves, "O.K. I like Jimmy better than Jane." And say it without shame.

When we are ashamed of a feeling, a process we know nothing about begins to operate in us. The shame is so uncomfortable we start justifying the feeling that causes it. Thus, if I am ashamed of liking my son more than his sister, I will, without any awareness of what I'm doing, exaggerate her faults and be carefully blind to what is lovable in her.

I have to do this. Otherwise my dislike of her would be intolerable. But because this process is unconscious, I will imagine that I am struggling with my daughter's faults when the truth is I am struggling with shame of my failure to love her as much as I think I should.

So my problem isn't my daughter at all but my shame of my inferior affection.

And my answer is to stop being ashamed of it.

The moment my shame goes good things can start happening. I love my need to defend my dislike — and with it, my need to see faults in my daughter. In Jane I suddenly see uncertainty and hurt instead of stubbornness. Because shame no longer forces me to regard myself as a disappointing mother, Jane becomes human to me and stops being a disappointing child.

Mrs. O. may not be able to accept her preference without shame. She may have such fancy ideas of what she ought to be that she can't stand herself as she actually is.

Rather than break down and admit she's failed in proper affection for her daughter, she may have to go on defending her dislike by the unconscious process I have outlined.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Washington Not Advocate of Secrecy

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The stern visage and powdered pompadour of George Washington seemed to hang over the hearings of Adm. Lewis Strauss last week. The precedents he allegedly set forth for restricting information to Congress were quoted, as they have also been quoted repeatedly by the Eisenhower administration in repeatedly narrowing the information given to Congress and the American people.

The interesting question, however, is exactly what Washington did do as first president of the United States that gives Mr. Eisenhower and his cabinet members the excuse for withholding all sorts of information as a matter of "executive privilege"—the glorified label for secrecy.

The question is important because right now some senators, such as Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming and Tom Hennings of Missouri, feel that a vote to confirm Admiral Strauss as secretary of commerce is a vote to make official and permanent his refusal to answer congressional questions, thus permanently narrowing this already narrowed field of information.

How much Ike's legal advisers and Admiral Strauss have really dug into the precedents set by George Washington is not known, but it's suspected that either they haven't done much or else they have convenient memories. For Ike's No. 1 legal adviser, Attorney General Bill Rogers, when counsel for the old Truman investigating committee, used to argue emphatically from the other side of the table. He maintained that the White House had to supply information to Congress.

What Washington Did

One man who has dug into these secrecy precedents, is Russell Wiggins, executive editor of the Washington Post and Times Herald, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and a relentless seeker of the truth. His painstaking research is highly revealing and should be required reading for Admiral Strauss and other cabinet members who balk at answering questions from Congress. They will find it in the Federal Bar Journal for January, 1959.

The first and major test of whether President Washington was to give embarrassing information to Congress came after General St. Clair's force of 1,400 men was surprised by an Indian attack near Miami, Ohio, on Nov. 3, 1791, with a loss of 900 men. The disordered defeat was highly embarrassing to the executive branch of government but the House of Representatives passed a resolution to investigate, and demanded the records.

President Washington called a meeting of his cabinet to decide whether the confidential papers should be sent to Congress. The minutes of that cabinet meeting, as set forth by Thomas Jefferson, are revealing.

"Hamilton," recounts Jefferson, "agreed with us as to the power of the House to call on heads of departments. . . . But he thought himself not so far subject as to be obliged to produce all the papers they might call for. They might be secrets of a very mischievous nature."

And at this point, the founder of the Democratic party, Jefferson, added this parenthesis regarding the founder of the Republican party,

TULSA TRIBUNE: Double Standard.—Non-conformity is slowly dying in America.

One of the few surviving bastions has been stormed by the law back in Asbury Park, N.J., where a new ordinance decrees that all taxicab drivers must be clean-shaven and not wear T-shirts or undershirts as an outer garment. Possible penalty: a $200 fine or 90 days in the pokey.

True, few there are who will object to a law requiring taxicab drivers to be reasonably presentable while on the job. But there must be some who wonder about a law which bans T-shirts and undershirts yet views with equanimity such sartorial porgleforgling as the sack, the trapeze and, now that Summer's coming, the halter-type dress and short-shorts on the street.

Emphasis On Siberia

The Soviets are concentrating attention and propaganda on Siberia, that expanse of land so vast it could swallow the United States. Siberia has long been considered a place of exile, with its long cold winters, its hot summers and its steppes.

Suddenly Siberia has become the Soviet's promised land. There is optimism despite hardship, opportunity despite nature's limitations. A "seven year plan" of development by officials and scientists is now being launched to bring a new world to thousands of people who now live in Siberia and others who will migrate there from the cities of Russia. These people are willing to make many sacrifices to build this new world for their communistic ideals. They are willing to toil in winter cold and summer heat to overtake and surpass the United States in industrial output and standard of life.

It would be well to get out the geography book or a new map of the Soviet Union and look and see just how big Russia-Siberia really is. It stretches from the Baltic to the Pacific. The population of Siberia is estimated at present at only 3,000,000, but that is not going to last. Already the modernization of Irkutsk, Chita, Khabarovsk and Yakutsk has begun.

The seven-year Siberian plan sounds like a challenge to Uncle Sam's newest state. Will Alaska progress faster than Siberia? Well, Alaska is peopled by those who choose it: it has never been a land of exiles and forced labor camps. How soon, under communism, can Siberia be as free as Alaska?

Thought For Today

And now we call the proud happy; yea, they that work wickedness are set up; yea, they that tempt God are even delivered.—Malachi 3:15.

Judge Taking a New Tack Against Juvenile Offenders

By HUELL WARREN JR

NEVADA, Mo. (AP) — Circuit Judge Jack Pritchard is taking a new tack with juvenile offenders. He requires most of them to submit to mental and physical examination at State Hospital No. 3.

This has given certain pause to the set whose byword has been—"Crazy, man, crazy!"

"There isn't any doubt it's changed a lot of attitudes," said Darrell Estes Jr., who is Nevada's chief of police and doubles as juvenile officer for Missouri's 26th judicial circuit.

Estes said he thinks Judge Pritchard's strategy will be as much a preventive as a remedy. Jack Pritchard is one of Missouri's youngest circuit judges. He turns 41 this month. He started delving into the juvenile problem even before he took the bench in January. He considered it perhaps the greatest challenge he faced.

The juvenile code adopted by Missouri's Legislature in 1957 gives a judge the authority to prescribe mental examinations for wayward youngsters.

"We're fortunate to have the state hospital right here in Nevada," Judge Pritchard said. "I checked with Dr. Paul Barone and his staff. They said they would be glad to help."

Judge Pritchard barely had taken his oath when a flurry of juvenile misdeeds gave him opportunity to put his new approach into operation—eight times.

It is too early to come to any sweeping conclusions about how it is working. Judge Pritchard and Chief Estes are encouraged by what it is doing for four boys.

The other four cases involved girls and to a degree were failures.

"Primarily it was because their home situations were so bad and they were so defiant the psychiatrists couldn't hope to accomplish much," Judge Pritchard said.

The psychiatrists at State Hospital No. 3—Dr. Gerald G. Pridemore and Dr. Don R. Swick among them, and Jerry Evans, a psychiatric social worker—decided there was a good chance to redeem the boys without sending them to an institution. Judge Pritchard put them on probation in their own homes or in foster homes.

They are 14 and 15 years old. They stole cars for joyrides and got mixed up in fights. Two were second offenders. Two wore black motorcycle jackets, skin-tight jeans, boots and their hair long. They tested dull (1), dull-normal (2) bright normal (3) and upper average to bright (4).

Their psychiatric reports run like this:

1. Minimum parental discipline, heavy drinking father, sullen, disinterested, has the idea he can do anything he desires without legal repercussions, confident of probation.

2. Poor relationship with mother, no supervision or discipline, defiant, resentful, disinterested, desires help but has no place to turn.

3. No especially close relationships with any of family except mother, lacking adequate affectional relationships, seeks to gain acceptance by attempting to focus attention on himself, sorry and co-operative.

4. Couldn't care less attitude, vain, self-centered, thinks he's a big shot, society's laws just don't apply to him.

In all four cases, the psychiatrists concluded what these boys need is work, supervision, discipline and a chance to make only rudimentary decisions for themselves until their outlooks change.

Judge Pritchard set these ground rules for their probation: You must not drive a car. You must not drink intoxicants. You must not skip school. You must stay off the streets after 8 p.m. You must not discuss (boast about) your case with other youngsters.

You must go straight from home to school and from school home. You must get special permission to go to sports events and other school activities outside class time. You must do your chores at home and the home-work assigned at school. You must get a summer-time job.

You must report to me once a month for six months and then every three months until you are 17.

You must bring a report from your principal showing your grades and deportment, or from your employer on how you are doing your job. You must bring a report from the town marshal or chief of police showing you're staying off the streets and not driving cars.

"And you," the judge told one boy, "must get a hair cut."

The four also agreed to return to the hospital every week to talk with the psychiatrists.

Judge Pritchard made the first monthly appearance before him one a solemn, earnest affair.

Each boy approached the bench in turn, seconded by his court-appointed attorney and parent or guardian. The judge probed carefully for information and reactions.

"They seem to appreciate someone taking an interest in them," he said. "We try to let them know we're here to help them. We're not just kicking them around. At the same time, we also let them know they've got to toe the line."

Chief Estes picks up the four boys each Thursday, takes them to the hospital for an hour and returns them home.

"They didn't want to go at first," he reported. "They were a little bit resentful, a little angry, perhaps a little ashamed at being sent to the hospital. That changed quickly once they talked to the

Goats Never Miss In Predicting Weather

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP) — Oregon State College professors are taking an interest in the goats who forecast Roseburg's weather.

These goats roam wild on Mt. Nebo above Roseburg. Residents watch their movements closely.

"The goats are up" is a heartening cry in Roseburg. Picnics are planned, golf dates are made and fishing trips planned. Invariably the sun shines.

But when the goats come down from Mt. Nebo to the shelter of shallow caves, bad weather inevitably follows.

How do they know what the weather will be?

That's what OSC professors want to know. Stephen Shou, Oregon State College librarian, has written asking for extra copies of a recent Roseburg newspaper story on the goats. He said a number of professors are interested in knowing why townspeople remarked "the goats are down" last Sunday.

The people here know why. It rained Monday.

doctors. I can see improvement every week.

"The main thing is their response to someone showing some interest in them, not just the psychiatrists but Judge Pritchard himself."

And others, too.

More Lies About Height Than Either Weight or Age

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — The Oddity Almanac:

What do people lie about most—their age, their weight or their height. My opinion is, based on my experience as a reporter, that people actually lie most about their height. The majority would rather not discuss their real age or weight.

Is this true about you? Most people have heard about a lynx but they have never seen one. According to "Outdoor California" the average lynx weighs between 12 and 25 pounds.

What was your father's favorite song? "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen," sung so sweetly and so clearly and so memorably by that voice across the waters, Ireland's tenor—John McCormack, played on the old one-sided record, had the power to stir my father to tears. He liked to hear it all alone in a room without other noise, a problem in a crowded house.

What was your mother's favorite song? I never knew. It is my opinion that mothers hum an individual and nameless tune of their own, and make it up and change it as their life goes along. It is usually a croon of acceptance of life.

There is now available for more than $50,000 a 66-foot, 32-wheel vehicle that can carry up to 300 tons and requires a driver fore and aft.

The drivers are connected by phone. It is a commercial vehicle, basically, but it has family possibilities. A back-seat-driving wife, for example, might have to dial her husband to predict a corner. And if he saw a curve ahead and forgot to dial her—well, steer today or gone tomorrow!

Policeman Is Busy Checking Suicides

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—As a patrolman was making out a report Monday on a man's death leap, he got a cryptic phone call from a driver on the Pulaski Skyway.

"Tell my wife I'm sorry," the voice said. Then the phone went dead.

Patrolman John Schroeder sped two miles in his squad car to the Skyway telephone. He grabbed a man atop the guard rail 100 feet above the ground.

Police identified the man as John Dundas, 35, of Jersey City. He was booked on a charge of attempted suicide.

Then Schroeder went back and finished up his paper work on Vincent Crown, 41, Jersey City. Crown had jumped 50 feet from a viaduct between Jersey City and Hoboken.

Writes Out Sentence For 20 Minutes

SALEM, N.H. (AP)—Ronald J. Caouette, 15, of Windham, wrote off his fine Monday in municipal court.

The youth was charged with driving a car without a license.

Judge Kenneth F. Romprey had him write "I will not drive again without a license" on a black-board until told to stop.

After about 20 minutes, during which the sentence was spelled out 40 times, the judge released Caouette and suspended a $10 fine.

First Place a Kiss of Death To All Except the Braves

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

First place is a kiss of death in the National League, except for the Milwaukee Braves—the only club that hasn't found the lead a ticket to fourth place.

In the first week of play, San Francisco broke on top—then lost five of eight and skidded to fourth. Milwaukee was on top for the next two weeks, gave way momentarily as Los Angeles moved in, then returned while the Dodgers dropped four of five and slipped to fourth.

The Giants made a repeat trip to the top on May 2—then dipped to fourth again, losing three of four while the Braves returned to first.

Cincinnati was next—but lost four straight and fell to fourth. Then the Dodgers were back. They won four in a row and had a half-game edge on Milwaukee a week ago. But they haven't won since while the Braves have set up shop once again, winning eight of nine.

Milwaukee made it five straight—longest winning string of the season in the NL—with a 4-2 victory at San Francisco Monday for a 3½-game bulge, also largest of the year, over the second place Giants. The Dodgers plunged to their fifth consecutive defeat, 9-7, to Cincinnati Monday night. That left them in a fourth place tie with the Chicago Cubs.

No other games were scheduled in the NL.

The Chicago White Sox took the American League lead, beating Washington 9-2 for a half-game edge over the Cleveland Indians, who were spilled to second with a 5-0 defeat at Baltimore. Detroit walloped Boston 11-2 in the only other game scheduled.

The Dodgers blew a 5-0 lead against the Reds, who tied it with homers by Johnny Temple and Gus Bell in a three-run fifth and then beat reliever Clem Labine (1-5) in the eighth on Vada Pinson's two-run double and Frank Robinson's single.

Orlando Pena (2-1) was the winner, relieving Bob Mabe in the second and then blanking the Dodgers on three hits before giving up single runs in the eighth.

Orton Returns To Local Ring Against Dano

Pro wrestling returns to Sedalia tonight (Tuesday, May 19) and some rugged action is assured.

The Armory program will see a former world champion trying to continue a successful campaign for a rematch, a newcomer hopeful of establishing himself as a regular in this section and several stars who have won fan favor in the Sedalia area. Tonight's matches get under way at 8:15.

Dick Hutton, until four months ago the world's heavyweight mat champion, will join forces with Mighty Atlas tonight and they'll oppose Cowboy Bob Ellis and Thor Hagen. Ellis is the present Central States champion and, like Hutton, is driving for a shot at the world crown now owned by Pat O'Connor.

Dano McDonald, a former rodeo cowboy, will make his first appearance here when he battles the unpredictable Bob Orton in the semifinal. Individual scraps involving the team members pit Hutton against Ellis and Atlas against Hagen.

For Hutton, the road back to the top has been a rocky one. He's met with good success but has sustained several minor injuries which

Greatest Name In Gold History Appears Again

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The greatest name in golfing history appeared again on a scoreboard in national competition Monday.

The name: Robert Jones.

The immortal Bobby's son, Robert Tyre Jones III, put the famous name in view again by qualifying in a district preliminary for the U. S. Open championship.

Just 30 years ago, Bobby won the Open at the Winged Foot Country Club in Mamaroneck, N.Y., where this year's Open will be played June 11-13.

Young Jones, a 32-year-old bottling company executive from Pittsfield, Mass., says he's "just another golfer who likes to play weekends."

Nevertheless, he's won the championship of the Pittsfield Country Club, his home course, several times.

Stocky and blond with more than a suggestion of his father's look and stance, Jones hits a long ball and is steady around the greens.

He qualified Monday with a 149 on the par-72 Schuyler Meadows course outside Albany.

It was the first time he's qualified in Open competition after trying "a couple of times before in the past five years."

To enter the Open, he still must hurdle a sectional qualifier at Springfield, N.J., June 1.

He says he especially wants to make the Open at Winged Foot because of his father's victory there.

Ike's Golfing Friend Fails to Qualify

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Dick Sleichter, the Pennsylvania Open champion and a frequent golfing companion of President Eisenhower, let things get out of hand Monday in a regional qualifying test for the National Open, partly because of a caddy's error.

The Gettysburg Country Club pro admitted his play was very poor over 36-holes at Harrisburg Country Club. He finished with a 157, too high to qualify.

Sleichter was par in the morning up to the fourth hole. His drive went into the woods and his caddy erred by picking up the ball. It cost Sleichter a two-stroke penalty and a triple bogey seven.

"It sort of shook me up," confessed the President's golfing partner. "But later I told the young lad it made no difference because I was playing very poorly."

After taking the seven, Sleichter was over par for the next five holes and never did recover.

Hearn Released

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Pitcher Jim Hearn, 36, was given his unconditional release Monday by the Philadelphia Phillies. Used in relief this year, he has no decisions.

Baseball Takes Crack At Radio-TV Problem

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Organized baseball takes another crack at solving its radio-television problems today.

Commissioner Ford Frick and minor league chief George M. Trautman meet with an eight-man committee in two-day sessions which Trautman says "could be the most important meeting ever held on this matter."

Trautman, who says some fans have not been enlightened as to why some telecasts are not available to them, asked the "legion of baseball fans everywhere to consider why it is necessary for some restrictions to be imposed on major league television in certain areas."

He explained: "Television games are blacked out only when the minor league team is playing at home at a time the televised game is in progress, and even then the telecast may run up to 30 minutes before the minor league game starts. This is a simple economic fact... that must be recognized if we are to survive."

Drivers' Last Chance For Memorial Race

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — New drivers got their last chance today to begin the 100-mile test required before they can attempt qualification for the 500-mile race May 30.

The rookie tests end officially Wednesday afternoon and it takes two days to complete the runs, starting at 115 miles an hour and finishing with 25 miles at 130.

Seven had completed and passed the test and two more were working on it.

Question About Shark Attack On Florida Beach

INDIAN ROCKS BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A shark or a barnacle? That seems to be the question at this resort community a few miles south of Clearwater.

Mrs. June Goldback said a shark attacked her while she swam at the beach yesterday. She suffered scratches on her foot, hand and thigh.

Beach residents scoffed at the shark story, but Bob Robinson of Muncie, Ind., had another story to tell. He said he saw the 37-year-old Milwaukee, Wis., woman struggling in the water and the fish swim away.

"I actually believe she would have been pulled under," he said. "If her mother hadn't come to the rescue."

Mrs. Clara Winkler, about 60, also of Milwaukee, was with her daughter at the time. She grabbed Mrs. Goldback's hand and helped pull her to safety.

"She had three small barnacle scratches," said Ed Whitnel, a motel owner. "I have seen many of them in my 36 years in Florida and I could not be mistaken."

The physician who treated Mrs. Goldback said he told her at the time the scratches "probably had been caused by barnacles."

Mrs. Truman Rallies From Surgery Effects

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Harry S. Truman, 74, rallied today from effects of surgery for removal of a breast tumor.

A Research Hospital spokesman reported her condition was satisfactory. The two-hour and 45-minute operation was performed Monday morning.

Tests were being made to determine whether the tumor was malignant. Results of the biopsy probably will not be known for two or three days.

Former President Truman, showing the strain of a long day, seemed in good spirits when he went home from the hospital Monday night.

"She seemed to be a little groggy from the effects of the medication during the day," Truman said. "The doctors have assured us that everything is going well after the operation."

Lansing Gets Hats For 100th Birthday

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Lansing, Mich., will have some hats for its 100th birthday party after all.

The Michigan city had complained that it couldn't get any novelty hats because hat manufacturers were working overtime to fill orders for Oregon's Centennial.

Monday, the Oregon Centennial Commission put 100 hats aboard an airplane for Lansing. The shipment included beanies, derbies, baseball caps and the cap of an old seaman.

The hats were collected by the Sanitary Truck Drivers Union.

ONLY NEWSPAPERS SELL TOILETRIES FROM CHEMIST TO CUSTOMER

TOILETRY MANUFACTURERS spent over $34,000,000 in 1958 in newspapers to reach their millions of men and women customers. This kind of spending helps to pay off well for the toiletry business whose sales are highest ever, according to the Census Bureau.

Retailers of toiletries, too, know the value of steady, strong newspaper advertising on the local scene. They can easily see the effects—their sales of toilet preparations are up, also. Most local advertisers are firm believers in the retailers' number one medium, the Total Selling newspaper. That's why they invested $2,375,000,000 last year in newspapers—six times as much as in radio; nine times as much as in TV!

Put the combined national coverage and local impact of the Total Selling daily newspaper to work on your products. It sells goods—at all levels at the same time and in the same medium.

Honeymoon Yacht Sails Into Cannes

CANNES, France (AP) — The Elizabeth Taylor-Eddie Fisher honeymoon yacht sailed lazily into Cannes early this morning with the newlyweds out of sight.

But the weather has turned gloomy on the French Riviera, and crewmen of the rented yacht Olmco said they would sail later today for Portofino, Italy.

The bride will miss a reunion with her three children in Nice. The children — by former husbands Michael Wilding and Mike Todd — will pass through the airport there Thursday enroute to Italy. They may be reunited with mama there.

Couple Still Missing In River Rapids

MOAB, Utah (AP) — A couple plucked from a rugged river's bank waited today for search efforts to disclose the fate of the man's mother and father. They last saw the older couple bobbing away through dangerous Colorado River rapids after their pleasure boat capsized.

Frank A. Rich, 65, and his wife, 64, of Lakewood Village, Calif., are missing and presumably drowned.

Rescued from awesome Cataract Canyon were Dr. Delbert F. Rich, 41, Cedar City, Utah, and his 35-year-old wife.

"I managed to get my wife to safety," said the younger Rich, who grabbed her hair and yanked her to shore. "My mother and father were swept down the rapids."

The Riches were in one of more than 400 boats which made an annual 200-mile pleasure cruise down the Green River and up the Colorado in lonely eastern Utah.

The boaters were warned before starting not to get too close to the cataract, a raging funnel of water that hurtles through 40 miles of jagged Colorado River canyon. The near-vertical canyon walls rise 800 or 900 feet above the river.

The rapids are a few miles down the Colorado from the point at which it is joined by the Green. Dr. Rich said he and his family were cruising near the river junction early Sunday and noticed another boat which seemed to be in trouble.

"We stopped to give them assistance. While we were working we apparently lost our sense of direction and when we started out again, we went the wrong way. Before we realized it, the boat was in the rapids. It was swamped, overturned, capsized."

Both couples wore life jackets. Rich said they leaped to the gunwales when they realized the swirling rapids would capsize the boat. Then they were thrown out. Jim Hurst, a private pilot from Green River, Utah, saw the young couple while making a routine flight to check for river run stragglers. They were on shore, signaling distress. Hurst dropped a note saying help was on the way.

A rescue boat picked the Riches up and brought them here for examination. They were in good condition.

Though people have survived runs through the cataract, they have done so in large, well-equipped rubber rafts. Others have drowned trying it.

Helicopters and other planes were ordered to fly up and down the cataract this morning seeking a sign of the missing couple. What was believed to be their battered boat was spotted bobbing in a whirlpool in the canyon Monday.

Father, Son Killed On Power Project

ROCKINGHAM, N.C. (AP) — A father and his son, working side by side on a power line project near here, were electrocuted Monday.

The victims were Oscar Morris and his son, J. L. Morris of Cheraw, S.C. The younger Morris had been working with his father only two weeks.

They were part of a crew stringing a new line between here and nearby Hamlet. Authorities said the dead line the men were pulling into place slipped, whiplashed and touched a live wire on another pole.

Valedictorian Is Chosen at California

Don Engelbrecht, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Engelbrecht, near California, is the valedictorian of the 1959 Senior class of the California School. Miss Judy Roll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Roll, California, is the salutatorian of the class.

Convicts Mutilate Themselves

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Eight tough, long-term convicts at a prison camp for incorrigibles chose self mutilation as a means of registering complaints Monday.

State Prisons Director William Bailey said three cut off a part of their little fingers, and five injured themselves with sledge hammers.

"They wanted television, store privileges and they fussed about the food," Bailey said.

The incident occurred at Ivy Bluff Camp in Caswell County. The men were brought to Central Prison Hospital here for treatment.

Only 35 to 40 men are confined at Ivy Bluff, a camp for convicts who fail to conform to prison regulations. The men work in a rock quarry. Bailey commented, "Men will do anything to get away from there."

Bailey said the State Bureau of Investigation will look into the matter.

The three who cut off part of their little fingers were Henry Gilmore, 36, of Orange, Texas; Ralph Byers, 23, of Winston-Salem, N.C.; and Roy Anderson Jr., 18, of North Wilkesboro, N.C.

The other five were Glenn Hensley, 31, of Rt. 1, Asheville, N.C.; Wiley Cummings, 32, of Winston-Salem; Johnny Miller, 21, of Albemarle, N.C.; William Vaughn, 34, of Halifax, Va.; and John Kilbourne, 30, no address listed.

Asst. Prisons Director Robert Allen recalled that four inmates hit themselves with sledge hammers about a year ago, prompting an investigation into charges of mistreatment of prisoners at the camp. One of the men broke his leg.

The State Bureau of Investigation report gave no indication of mistreatment.

In Monday's incident, the men used a tool on the end of an electric drill to cut their fingers.

Two of the men, Vaughn and Hensley, are serving life for first degree murder. The others are serving various terms ranging to a maximum of 20 years.

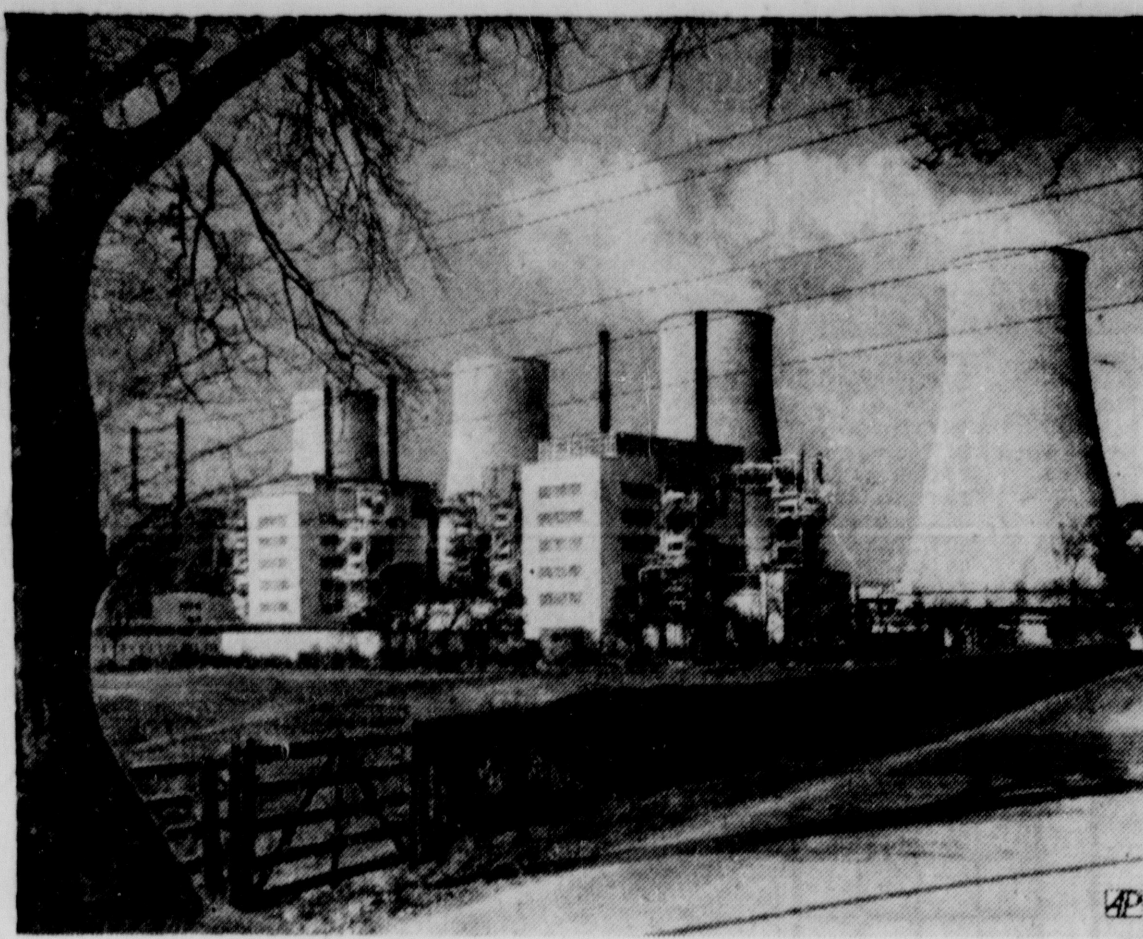

Gambler, Teaser Not Meant for Each Other

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mickey Cohen says Candy is dandy. And Candy Barr says the Mick is a brick.

But, the pudgy ex-gambler and the blonde stripteaser now say they aren't planning marriage. "We have different standards of living and different ways of life," Cohen said Monday.

"He's nice," chimed in Miss Barr at the joint press conference, "but we just weren't meant for each other."

Miss Barr, under a 15-year prison sentence in Texas for narcotics possession, didn't say yes, and didn't say no when Cohen told reporters recently that he planned to marry her. Cohen said he still plans to fight to keep her from going to prison.

POWER PRODUCTION — Smoke rises from chimneys at Britain's newest nuclear power station near Annan, Scotland. One of four reactors is in service.

Violence Sounds Presence With Dynamite Blasts

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Forces of violence, intimidated for a week by the presence of National Guardsmen, sounded their presence with two dynamite blasts Monday night near a struck cotton mill.

One explosion tore a hole in the home of James Weaver about an hour or so before he and his wife were due off their new jobs at Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills. The explosive, placed 10 to 15 feet under the house, ripped through the floor, damaging furniture and the interior.

The home is situated about two blocks from the north plant, where National Guardsmen patrolled the fence.

An hour later, another blast harmlessly dug dirt in a ditch about a block from the plant.

The 300 officers and men of the National Guard, ordered here May 12 by Gov. Luther Hodges, had kept the strike scene relatively quiet.

The two striking Textile Workers Union of America locals met Monday night to receive a report from leaders on the 6-month-old strike. Boyd Patton, Carolinas director of the TWUA, said no efforts have been made to set up negotiation sessions between union and management.

The strike began last Nov. 17 after a deadlock over an arbitration clause. The dispute later broadened to include among other things, the matter of job rights of strikers, and of new workers hired when the mills reopened on a limited operation basis in spite of the strike.

Johnson Suggests Free World Meeting

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) suggests a summit meeting of the free world nations. Johnson made the suggestion Monday night at a testimonial banquet honoring N. B. Hardeeman, Tennessee educator and minister on his 85th birthday.

"Where the Soviet has sought a meeting of the few, let the United States initiate a meeting of the many," the senator said.

"Let us—after these meetings in which we are now engaged—begin the work of preparing for a meeting at the summit of the many nations of the non-Communist world."

Johnson said the meeting could develop Western leadership in

Margaret O'Brien To Wed Art Student

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Margaret O'Brien has set Aug. 8 for her wedding to art student Robert Allen.

The couple announced Monday that the ceremony will be held in the Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills with Anna Maria Alberghetti, the singer-actress as one of the bridesmaids. They will honeymoon in Hawaii.

solving the world's need "for the fundamentals of human existence — the fundamentals of food to eat, health to enjoy, of ignorance and illiteracy to overcome, of jobs to create, of markets to develop."

Rules Building Code Unconstitutional

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Judge Macauley L. Smith took "judicial notice" Monday that "many people who have tubs or showers with hot and cold running water... are offensively unclean."

Likewise, he said, many who do not have such facilities "are fastidiously clean."

Accordingly, the judge ruled unconstitutional a section of the Louisville building code which required a tub or shower with hot water attached in every dwelling.
